

Veterans Helping Veterans

Imagine a world without veteran suicide.
That's the mission of Veterans Helping Veterans, a new gathering place for veterans in Homestead, PA.

Our doors have opened as a sanctuary for veterans to give back, get assistance, recalibrate, and be heard. We are Veterans Helping Veterans, 210 E. 7th Ave, Homestead, PA, 15120, Each Monday - Friday, from 0800-1600 veterans and active military are welcome to connect with other veterans, have a cup of coffee, and a light meal.

VHV provides a veteran-centric social environment where veterans can decompress and build their resilience through wellness, volunteerism, and camaraderie. Our mission is to break the cascading effect of hopelessness that leads to suicide among our nation's defenders. Our goal is to keep veterans engaged with a community of veterans and services who will meet them where they are, listen to their stories, hear their needs, and connect them to services, assistance, and resources addressing whatever struggles they may be facing.

Veterans Helping Veterans is building gold-standard partnerships with veteran service organizations nationwide that have a proven track record and connection in the community of veterans in need. We are reaching out to your organization because we believe you have the veterans' best interest at heart and provide a needed service at no charge to the veteran in need. If you are interested in working as a team to help our veterans please contact us to discuss further.

As a nonprofit, VHV is seeking donors and funds to help us meet the needs of our veterans. We need your help spreading the word that we are here for, and with veterans. We also need volunteers to join our efforts.

We would like to get you involved. in a life-saving, life-sustaining, and life-giving circle of caring. The more we work as a team, the closer we move toward our vision of a world without veteran suicides.
